

2018 SHARE THE WARMTH Update

550 SWEATSHIRTS

SECOND Delivery to Local Charities

This week we will be sending out a donation of 550 sweatshirts to Hope Mission, Elizabeth Fry Society and the Bissell Centre's Community Closet. NASA and the Share the Warmth campaign would like to recognize the great generosity of Glenn Tkachuk for the donation of these sweatshirts.

Glenn was elected NASA VP of Membership Services this past spring but his efforts on behalf of NASA go back many years. Previously he has served on the Membership Services Committee and has been a frequent and longstanding contributor to Share the Warmth. Over the past few years he has been collecting bottles and cans throughout the year in the Electrical Program area, returning them for deposit and spending the proceeds on items for Share the Warmth.

This year Glenn used the approximately eleven-hundred dollars that he collected from September through June to purchase the 550 sweatshirts. This is a great example to all NASA members of both the great difference that can be made by just one person and the immense power of buying bulk – imagine getting a sweatshirt for around $2.

So please join us in thanking Glenn Tkachuk, and as you make your donation to the Share the Warmth campaign remember the difference that your contribution, whatever its size (even a few pop bottles), makes when it gets combined with others.

If you or your office bank/program area are interested in adding your empty bottles and cans to Glenn's efforts then please contact him at GTKACHUK@nait.ca . He will arrange to come by and collect the empties for inclusion in his annual donation.
